

Nadine Rix

Nadine is a South African Chartered Accountant with more than 20 years' experience of which 15 years was spent living and working in West Africa. She is mother of two and loves working with businesses to enhance performance through individual development. After finishing articles at PwC she headed up the Risk management function of major Telecommunications company in Nigeria where she won awards for Team excellence and culture.

After 5 years she relocated to Accra, Ghana to start her own consulting and training company. In her 9 years in Ghana in the areas of Leadership and management with a strong focus on experiential learning. She organised team building events and virtually coached Executives of leading multinational companies. Area of expertise include:

- Strategy Management (Planning → Implementation)
- Risk Management (Strategic, Operational and Forensic Risk)
- Financial analysis and decision making
- Project management
- Soft Skills Development (Communication, Motivation)
- Management and Executive Development and coaching

She was speaker at four Audit in Africa conferences, hosted by MIS training Institute in the UK and was invited as speaker to the 7th Annual African Business Leadership Forum hosted in Accra, Ghana where she addressed delegates on the topic of Women in Leadership and Entrepreneurship. Before returning home to South African in 2017, she was project lead advisory to a team of professionals that led the restructuring and revamping of the Tema Oil Refinery in Ghana, making the refinery profitable for the first time in nine years. Back in South Africa she has been heavily involved in the development of Female Entrepreneurs through her course "Ideas to Impact" and most recently took a consulting position with BDO Audit and Advisory as National Risk officer for South Africa.

She is a life-long learning and love doing short courses or learning new crafts.

"LED BY PASSION DRIVEN BY CHOICE"