

Chantel Samanek

MBA; BA (Hons) Psychology; NLP; EQPC; EQAC; VS

Chantel is trained in Clinical Psychology, holds a Masters of Business Administration (MBA) degree with Change Management as dissertation focus and is certified as NLP Practitioner and Coach. Chantel is also certified through Six Seconds on the Vital Signs, SEI Assessor Toolkits and is an EQ Trainer.

Chantel is the Founder and Owner of Grey Insight, a niche consulting firm specialising in assisting organisations improve business performance through people. Grey Insight' mission is to assist individuals, teams and organisations in finding Insight in the uncertain Grey space they encounter. Chantel is passionate about partnering with clients to co-create transformational change interventions. Her experience lies in Organisational and Leadership development on a group, team and individual level in both the corporate and commercial world.

Her academic training and international experience creates a dynamic facilitation style aimed at facilitating change through learning. Chantel's belief that 'Excellence is doing a common thing in an uncommon way' – Albert Einstein, inspires her to create and facilitate dynamic development initiatives that push individuals beyond their own perceived boundaries and limitations. From a training point of view her core skills and experience includes training needs identification, gap analysis, strategy implementation, intervention development and deployment, facilitation and review. On the consulting side her focus is mainly on organisational engagement analysis, strategy formulation, training process streamlining, learning path and supporting curriculum design, change management, innovative solutions design.

Chantel has worked with:

KPMG, Investec, Nissan SA, Department of Social Work SA, ARMSCOR, Almarai, Emirates Bank, Richemont, Pepsi - Dubai Refreshments, Novartis MEA, Siemens MEA, Sadia, ADGAS, MMI, Ajman Bank