

Dr Jane Robertson

Dr Jane Robertson is a director of Training Partners, which specialises in researching, designing, facilitating and assessing learning and development on: Managing self, managing others and managing contexts. Her areas of expertise involve, people management, human resource management, personal mastery and action learning. Jane strives to create a holistic and immersive learning experience that enhances participants' and organisational results through skills development and application.

She uses all aspects of the learning cycle: thinking, reasoning, practice and reflection in her workshops and management development programmes. She works with business schools, one on one coaching, action learning teams and organisations to support adult learning.

Jane's strength lies in the synergy of a sound theoretical base, as she has a PhD in the Faculty of Business Management and Administration (Stellenbosch University), Masters Degree in Human Resources Management (University of Witwatersrand) and an Honours Degree in Human Resource Development (RAU). She is a certified Enneagram practitioner and is an International Assessor (City and Guilds). She also contributes to the body of knowledge on action learning that results in publications.

Her favourite quotation is:

"Love like you have never been hurt, Work like it's not for the money, Dance like no one is watching."
