

Leadership and the Next Generation

Handing Over the Baton

Who Should Attend

The course is aimed at Business Leaders who are challenged with managing people from different generations on a day to day basis. Having experience in organisational leadership is an advantage. The course is designed for individuals driven through the aspiration of improving the world of tomorrow. Specifically achieving such a better world through making friends with the next generation leaders, embracing their specific mind-set and handing over the baton for them to take us into a better future.
